Airport, Industrial, Port Prospects Bright

Did the last several days mark a significant turning point for the Quad-City area's economic well-being?

Only time will tell, but major developments in airport, industrial and port news are being cited as perhaps heralding a new era of prosperity for the St. Louis metropolitan area and particularly the Illinois portion of the bi-state region.

The events were:

1. John H. Shaffer, administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration, said in St. Louis Friday that this region definitely needs a major new airport and that the FAA currently is giving consideration to one site, the tract near Columbia-Waterloo, Ill., endorsed by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

Neither of the two sites being urged by Missourians, Smart Field and the Pardenes area, is acceptable because either would overlap Lambert Field air space, Shaffer said, adding: "I simply cannot approve additions to a system which would conflict with existing flight patterns. That luxury evaporated in 1969, when massive congestion brought our system to its knees."

"We are required to process applications. We can't set one aside and wait for the millennium. We were asked a year ago for a six-month delay to give Missouri time to submit an application, we still haven't heard from Missouri."

Shaffer stressed that Lambert will continue as a key airport after a new one is built. It will be a "short haul" airport for flights to such cities as Chicago and Kansas City, he said.

2. The Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce board last week agreed to provide funds for an in-depth analysis of local industrial sites at Dr. Robert Koepke and other SIU-SW faculty members.

The study will include the character of the land, the patterns in which it has been developed and the experience with surface drainage over an extensive period of time.

It is expected to prove valuable in encouraging industrial expansion and construction of new manufacturing plants.

It also was noted that progress is being made in assuring sanitary sewers, access and

Simon Steps Up Vote Drive, Talks of Taxes, 'Real State of State'

Chicago—"To insure a fairer tax structure and quality educational opportunities for all children, Illinois must move away from the present personal property tax and the real estate tax," Illinois Lieutenant Governor Paul Simon said today.

Simon said Governor Ogilvie's recent election year promise that he would not raise taxes "is politically adroit, but fiscally deceptive."

Noting that Ogilvie said in 1968 that he was against a state income tax—and then imposed one—Simon said the people should be skeptical of politicians who say they favor cutting taxes in one area, without stating how they will replace the lost revenue.

"The truth is that we know in what direction we should go," Simon said.

"We must move away from the present personal property tax and the real estate tax and toward a system of education toward greater reliance on the income tax, both to guarantee quality educational opportunities for all Illinois children and to have a fairer tax structure."

Simon said "our entire system of taxation" in Illinois must be revamped "to distribute the burdens more justly."

"The sales tax on food must be removed," Simon said. "We must immediately eliminate the personal property tax, for non-income producing property and for farmers."

"Real estate should no longer bear the heavy burden it does, discouraging property upkeep and taxing farmers, senior citizens, the ill, the unemployed and many others unfairly."

In a statement titled "My Real State of the State: Assurances, Realities and Desirable Goals," Simon outlined some of the goals he believes are desirable for Illinois.

He outlined his goals on education, fiscal policy, transportation, population density, crime, environment and conservation. He also said, however, that consumer protection and ethics legislation.

Simon said that if he is elected, he will establish a Consumer Protection Council, headed by Neil Hartigan, his running mate for lieutenant governor.

This will not be a new agency, but a regular meeting of agencies involved with protecting the consumer," Simon said.

In addition to inter-agency discussion, Simon said the Consumer Protection Council would hold hearings regularly throughout the state to determine how Illinois can more effectively protect the public interest.

In summing up, Simon said: "A state which is not able to place the words 'Land of Lincoln' on license plates without having to apologize enough, compassionate enough and sensible enough to live up to the Lincoln tradition."

"But today, from all sections of the state, comes a rising tide of cynicism about Illinois government. That cynicism can be replaced by hope."

"I do not promise a state free from problems; I promise a state in which difficult problems will be faced."

"I do not promise a state in which there will be no discord; I do promise leadership which will bring divergent elements together to resolve difficulties."

"I do not promise leadership which will take the easy route. I promise leadership which will take the hard road, if it is the right road."

"Illinois has had enough government that is exciting for the wrong reasons. We now need government that is exciting for the right reasons."

7% Assessment Boost for City Improved Property is Planned

On the basis of Granite City Township assessments on improvements certified to the Board of Review by the local assessor's office for the 1971 year, the 7% increase would amount to $5,412,897.

Values extended for 1971 on improvements listed in Granite City's seven lot books total $88,968,686, while assessments on improvements listed in the township's one land book total $13,230,250, for a total of $102,200,000 against which the 7% increase will be applied.

These are the figures certified locally to the county assessing officials and do not include any changes that may have been made for other reasons by the review board.

A similar extension is to be made by the review board of the valuation of improvements in Wood River Township, Ill.

The assessment increases will not apply to personal property, nor to lots and lands real estate upon which the improvements are located.

James Barton, Granite City Township assessor, said he agreed to the increase for Granite City Township assessments after the State Department of Revenue, which has the arbitrary authority to apply multiplier factors wherever the department contends the assessment ratio is not high enough, maintained that Madison County is $15 million short in its overall assessment total of meeting the state's required valuation ratio of 10% of fair cash value.

At the same time, Barton said, the state formula for determining assessment ratios indicated that Granite City Township assessments represented a ratio of 37.0%, while the Wood River Township valuation also was held to be about 10% to 12%, the 50% minimum ratio figure.

"I don't agree with the state's method of determining the assessment ratio and I don't consider the Granite City assessment that low," the assessor said. "However, the State Department of Revenue can apply a multiplier on the basis of its sales market values without question."

The board said that any affected property owner or other citizen of the township, or any representative, who objects to the proposed increase will be given a hearing before the board within 20 days after publication of the notice. The legal notice is published in today's edition of the Press-Record.

The adjustment in the assessments are being made for the 1971 year because it is a quadrennial assessment (made every four years), involving all real estate properties. In any year other than a quadrennial assessment year, the only changes made in real estate values are additions of improvements.

10% cut for 1967

Barton said this year's assessment problem is similar to that four years ago when he made a 10% reduction in real estate values for the 1967 tax year ($100 taxes collected in 1968).

The state revenue department on that occasion also threatened a 10% multiplier because of assessment ratios lower than the state requirement, which at that time was 55% of fair cash value, not only in Granite City Township but in a number of townships throughout the county.

In readjustments ordered by the Board of Review to avoid that multiplier, the review board restored the 10% cut that had been made by Barton. This meant, however, that property owners still received a $100 assessment cut on each $10,000 valuation because the original reduction of 10% (or $1,000) cut the valuation to $9,000, on which the review board's 10% restoration amounted to $900.

Some SIU-SW Programs Are Being Phased Out

Three academic units at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern will be phased out June 30 because of the budget crisis and a reevaluation of educational priorities.

Andrew J. Kochman, vice president and provost, said the three units are Extension Services, the Division of Technical and Adult Education and International Services. The phase out will affect 18 full-time people.

Tenured faculty members assigned to the three units are expected to be reassigned to other academic units on the campus when the phase out is completed. Civil service personnel will be shifted to other campus jobs wherever possible.

Kochman said functions now being handled by Extension Services, Technical and Adult Education and International Services will be absorbed by other units of the University. Students enrolled in non-degree certificate programs requiring completion of a series of courses will be able to complete the courses before the certificate programs are discontinued.

The office of the vice president for student affairs is expected to assume additional responsibility for counseling with foreign students.

Kochman said the phase out is being made with regret and does not imply administrative dissatisfaction with the activities of the three units. "It is purely a matter of limited dollars and our need to channel funds to higher priority academic programs," he said.

Order Issued Today on Madison Junior High Discipline Guidelines

A nine-page order dealing with disciplinary methods and establishing guidelines at Madison Junior High School was entered today by Judge James D. Monroe in Madison County Circuit Court.

Three black students who had been expelled were ordered reinstated, with school authorities given an option to call a hearing with evidence to be presented by Wednesday.

Judge Monroe acted on a complaint filed by five ladies representing "concerned parents" who sought redress against members of the Board of Education and administrators.

In his statement, the judge blamed disciplinary difficulties at the school on overcrowding, noting that 112 additional children were enrolled there last fall. He said the same difficulties would be there if all of the students were of the same race.

His order finds that: "The conduct of the school board and authorities in handling disciplinary cases was not contemptuous and he denied punishment."

Disciplinary procedures used were inadequate to assure just and equal treatment of all students.

"Since such good will and effort appear likely, stringent equitable relief at this time would not seem to be necessary."

Venice Underpass May Get Federal Funding Priority

The relocation of Broadway in Venice to the recently completed Broadway underpass and into the proposed extension of Federal Road 151 may receive the first priority for federal funds under a $24,042 federal aid program, Venice representatives were told in a meeting Thursday night in Belleville.

John Kusior, an engineer with District 8 of the Illinois Division of Highways, said that projects "ready to go" will receive the first priority under the aid program. Since Venice has completed the underpass and plans for the Broadway relocation, the project is the nearest toward being ready for bids and construction, Kusior said.

Mayor John E. Lee of Venice said at the meeting that the relocation project has been planned for 11 years and that the new road would benefit the entire Quad-City area, providing fast access to St. Louis by way of Metcalf Bridge.

Eligible for funds are other urban areas eligible for funds under the Federal Highway Act of 1970 are Granite City, Madison, Pontoon Beach, East St. Louis, Belleville, Collinsville and Swansea.

Highways important to the central business districts of urban areas, but not included in the state highway system, are eligible for the federal aid, Kusior said.

A committee was selected to review eligible projects ready for funding. It includes Mayor Lee, Mayor Mike Sayak of Madison, Mayor Dennis H. of Granite City, Mayor Otto Kreher of Pontoon Beach, Nelson Hagner, chairman of the Madison County Board of Supervisors, the mayors of East St. Louis, Swansea, Belleville and Collinsville and two city superintendents of Madison and St. Clair Counties.

Kusior indicated the amount could be as high as 10 times the present level by 1974.

Hartigan Here Tuesday

Neil Hartigan, candidate for lieutenant governor on the Democratic slate headed by Paul Simon for governor, will visit in the Quad-City area tomorrow afternoon as part of his primary election campaign.

Hackney Appointed to Pontoon Village Board

By WALTER STRANGE, Press-Record Staff Writer

Carl Hackney, 4174 Breckenridge Lane, was appointed Thursday night as a trustee of the Pontoon Beach Village Board to fill a vacancy.

Hackney's appointment was the only major business of the regular village board meeting because the appointment of Otto Kreher as village board president was not yet effective. The meeting was recessed until Thursday, Feb. 17, at 7:30 p.m. when Kreher will be able to preside.

Kreher, formerly a trustee, was elected to the president's post by the village board in a meeting Jan. 27 after Thomas Stasick, village president since 1963, submitted his resignation. Hackney was appointed to fill the vacancy created by Kreher's elevation to board president.

Hackney has been serving as board treasurer and is required to resign that position to serve as a trustee. The Pontoon Beach village board consists of six trustees and the president.

The newly appointed trustee was elected April 4, 1971, as village clerk on a ticket headed by Stasick as a candidate for re-election, but he was disqualified at a special meeting later that month when it was disclosed he had failed to comply with residency requirements in filing as a candidate. He subsequently was appointed to the treasurer's post.

Dr. Dean Rochester, a board member, presided at Thursday night's meeting. Since Kreher's appointment was not to become effective until Thursday, action was delayed on a proposal that the village take over operation of the Gaslight Walk swimming pool on a letter from Paul Hawkins, Madison County health officer, concerning pollution of Long Lake.

The board discussed a request for a package liquor license from Fitter's Thrift Market, 4055 Pontoon Road. William Schooley, village attorney, was instructed to inform the market operator that if the firm cannot furnish proof the store was in operation at its present location prior to a 1964 statute regulating liquor licenses, it should present the data at the Feb. 17 meeting.

Trustee Loren Madison made a motion that the village purchase a Vascor unit for the pool to replace their radar unit. The motion did not receive a second and no action was taken. The board approved Sam Sartich to the four-year term, the zoning board to replace Claude

Laundry Burglarized

Burglars forced open three machines at the Plaza Laundry, 2400 Nameoki Road, and took about $6 from one of the machines, police were told. It was 7:25 a.m. yesterday.

An employee found the front door of the laundry open and called officers. They said the coffee machine, soft drink machine and a washer were opened. Coins were taken from the coffee machine. The burglars apparently were unable to open the boxes of the other two machines. An electric motor was ripped from a hair dryer, police added.

$248 House Burglary

Items valued at $248 were stolen in a burglary at the home of Joe Crider, 2138 Iowa St., and later recovered, he reported at 8:40 p.m. Friday.

Taken were a AM/FM table radio, an $80 stereo, a $80 radio, a projector and a $40.22 caliber rifle. They were found after an anonymous phone call informed the owner the items were at the rear of a home in the 2200 block of Washington Avenue.

Ogilvie Hopes to Unite Public Opinion Behind Nixon Peace Goal

By GOVERNOR
RICHARD B. OGILVIE

Few trips I have taken to Washington have given me the opportunities of my recent trip, which kept me there the better part of two days.

Officially, our governors and I were there for a dinner with the President and the cabinet.

But I was determined to do business, too, on the many concerns of the national administration which touch us in Illinois.

From start to finish, I was impressed with the knowledge of the officials I talked with, and their understanding of our problems.

A foreign policy briefing from Dr. Henry Kissinger was mostly by a matter of listening.

But I came away resolved to do what I can to unite public opinion behind the President's peace efforts.

I am not suggesting that he or his plans are above criticism.

But I would urge all Americans — particularly his political rivals — to consider the benefits to all of us of a united stand for peace in Vietnam.

On domestic affairs, we heard from John Ehrlichman, one of the President's chief advisers, while fiscal matters were handled by the distinguished former Chicagoan, George Shultz of the Office of Management and Budget.

I also chatted at some length with another outstanding Chicago man, David Kennedy, former treasury secretary who is now ambassador to NATO.

John Connally, the new treasury secretary, discussed with me the critical problem of alternative financing of our local schools.

The dinner gave the opportunity of brief discussions with Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, Secretary of State William Rogers and others in key positions.

The most substantive discussions, however, were on three major problems — the Illinois personal property tax appeal, the West Coast dock strikes, and the critical need of the states for money to pay ballooning welfare costs.

Attorney General John Mitchell was sympathetic on two matters with legal aspects — the personal effort I am making in the United States Supreme Court against the tax, and the strong efforts of the national administration to control the economically disastrous dock strikes.

Agriculture Secretary Dr.

Earl Butz took time to discuss the help Illinois was able to give the administration in invoking Taft-Hartley provisions against the Gulf Coast strikes.

Thiel-McKinney Nuptials At Grace Baptist Church

Pink and red flowers arranged with hearts and cupid, symbolic of St. Valentine's Day, and lighted tapers illuminating the chancel provided the setting Saturday evening at Grace Baptist Church for the wedding of Miss Marilyn Ruth McKinney and Nicholas Adam Thiel.

The Rev. Louis Brinker officiated at the double ring ceremony at seven o'clock. Preceding the wedding, Richard McKinney, a brother of the bride, sang the Lord's Prayer and the "Story of Ruth," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Marge Ellsworth.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John O. McKinney, 2512 Fortune Drive and Mr. and Mrs. Cyril N. Thiel, 415 S. Chestnut St., Collinsville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal length gown of white sateau, exquisitely styled with a cameo neckline, Empire waist and long bishop sleeves cuffed with lace. The bodice yoke was fashioned of Peau d'Annona lace, with the lace-work repeated on the hem of the A-line skirt and chapel train.

A bouffant, triple tiered veil of bridal illusion was secured with a petal headpiece of lace and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Karen Simon, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor, serving with Miss Debbie Cox and Miss Denise Cox, bridesmaids.

They wore identical gowns of beauty red chiffon designed with full bishop sleeves and Empire waists. White Venise lace edged the cameo neckline and formed the fitted bodice. Each attendant wore a matching headpiece of chiffon and carried a bouquet of pink rose buds and baby breath.

The Rev. Clifford Moeller attended the groom as best man. Dave Tarrant and Joe Mannis were groomsmen and the ushers were Pat Gauen and Don Simon.

Mrs. McKinney selected for her daughter's wedding a dress and coat ensemble in pink. She wore a red rosebud corsage. The groom's mother was seated in a hot pink street length dress and her flowers were pink rosebuds.

A reception for 250 wedding guests was given in the church fellowship hall, with Mrs. Joyce Willmore, Mrs. Gerry Marti and Mrs. Velma Myers as hostesses.

After a wedding trip the couple will reside in Collinsville. The bride is employed as a key punch operator at Graham Paper Co., St. Louis. She is a 1970 graduate of Granite City High School.

Her husband, a fireman with the Collinsville Fire Department, attended SIU-SW for two years.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Ralph, the bride's grandparents, from El Dorado, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Richard McKinney, a brother and sister-in-law of the bride, from Indianapolis, Iowa.

Cloverview Club Studies Spring Flowers

A comprehensive study on "Crocuses and Daffodils" and the program for the day, "In the Flower Border," were given by Mrs. Robert McCauley at a meeting of the Cloverview Garden Club held last week in the home of Mrs. Fred Orr, 2430 Lynch Ave.

A 12:30 dessert luncheon was served by the hostess. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Kenneth Brokaw. Mrs. George Knapp read the club collect.

A letter was read from the state scholarship chairman, Mrs. W. C. Delp Jr. of Northbrook, asking for support of the fund to send students to the University of Illinois for education in the fields of agriculture, horticulture and conservation.

A Litter Control letter, published by the National Council of State Garden Clubs Inc., was received from Mrs. Ralph Parker, anti-litter chairman, stressing the use of litter bags and baskets in cars and boats, street and sidewalk receptacles. Garden clubs can be more instrumental than any single force in bringing about and actively participating in a re-examination of the litter receptacle picture in every community which can be attractive as well as practical, she stated.

Mrs. John Lentz, a member of the nominating committee of District V, Garden Club of Illinois Inc., reported on the recent meeting in Belleville when the following women were selected as the state of officers for 1972-73: Mrs. B. J. Iselhardt, Edwardsville, director; Mrs. Arvid Nelson, Lebanon, vice-chairman; and Mrs. M. Kauffhold, Belleville, corresponding secretary.

The new district officials will be installed at the annual meeting on March 23 at Cahokia, District V, Garden Club of Illinois Inc. The Cahokia Garden Club will be host to all District V affiliated clubs at the yearly event, she added.

Mrs. Richard Branding, 2439 Lynch Ave., will entertain the Cloverview Club at its meeting in March. Final plans for the group's spring flower show will be made at this time, Mrs. Brokaw said.

ATTEND THE JACK HAZLEWOOD CRUSADE FOR CHRIST CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH
3000 Washington Avenue
FEBRUARY 20th - 27th 7:30 P.M.

The Rev. Arvin Twietmeyer heard the vows of the couple at 7 o'clock and a reception followed in Concordia parish hall. Arrangements of white mums, pom poms and ferns decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Fichte chose a princess line gown fashioned of lace and embellished with seed pearls and crystal beads. The dress was designed with a round neckline and long tapered sleeves. A detachable cathedral length train was created in matching Venice lace.

She wore a shoulder length bouffant veil secured to a headpiece of sheer petals embellished with seed pearls. Her crescent bouquet was of roses, baby breath and greenery festooned with white satin ribbon.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Patricia Baer, an aunt of the bride and the bridesmaids included Miss Rhonda Uschan, the groom's sister, Mrs. Vicki Moore, a cousin of the groom, Miss Bridget Hilboldt, the bride's cousin and a junior bridesmaid, Miss Denise Rankin.

They wore identical gowns of purple velvet designed with Empire bodice, round scooped necklines. Long gathered sleeves ended in ruffled cuffs, accented by bands of lavender satin ribbon and wide swathes of lavender satin were tied in the back with streamers falling to the hemline.

All the attendants carried flower balls of lavender and white pom poms tied with matching ribbon.

Nora Hilboldt, a cousin of the bride, flower girl, wore a similar styled dress in purple velvet.

Award-Winning Play 'Luther' Here Feb. 18

"Luther," the play that won the New York Drama Critics' Circle Award and the Tony Award of the 1963-64 season, written by John Osborne, brilliant English playwright, will be presented by the Alpha-Omega Players at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 18 at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

The forceful drama focuses on Martin Luther, a man whose spiritual struggles led him to split Christendom apart and aroused some of the most bitter passions and bloody wars in the history of Western civilization.

Though Martin Luther provoked bitter controversy, not to mention 200 years of religious wars, Osborne's play about him induced no particular controversy in its original London and New York presentations.

Audiences of all faiths religious history, nor even as biography, but as a sweeping drama of size and power about the most profound human feelings.

The cast will include Steve Nestor, Jill Murphy, Mark Murphy, Emory Swift and Nancy Hasty of the Alpha-Omega Players of Dallas, Tex., the nation's leading repertory company. This group has presented more than 2,000 performances in 45 states.

Directed by Drexel H. Riley, the Players will present the highlights from the epic production.

NANCY HASTY attended Pensacola Junior College where she was involved in the community theater, winning a top award for her performance in "Lion in Winter." She has won more than 20 trophies in state-wide and national competition in speech.

MARK MURPHY, a graduate in drama of Baylor University, has played title roles in "Macbeth," "Richard III," "Twelfth Night" and "The Time of Your Life." He also spent two seasons at the Ashland, Ore., Shakespeare Festival and in summer stock with the Cobblestone Players, Clear Lake, Iowa.

EMORY SWIFT's acting career began at an early age with the Wesley Players in Dallas under his mother's direction. He continued acting through high school and for five years worked as an announcer and disc jockey at a radio station while attending Southwestern University, Georgetown, Tex.

Mary Forrester Becomes Mrs. Lonnie Caffee Jr.

Miss Mary Ann Forrester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Forrester, 2329 Cleveland Blvd., and Raymond Second Class Lonnie L. Caffee Jr., U. S. Coast Guard, exchanged wedding vows in an evening ceremony at St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church on Jan. 28.

The Rev. Richard Chiola performed the 6:30 p.m. candlelight ceremony.

Mrs. Cleta Judd presided at the organ and played the theme from "Love Story" and "Mother Be Loved."

The bridegroom, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie L. Caffee Sr. of Orlando, Fla., is stationed at the new Federal Building in St. Louis.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of pearl de soie over taffeta, with Chantilly lace etched with seed pearls encircling the oval neckline. The lace-pearl trim extended down the front of the A-line skirt to form a semi-circle effect at the hemline, highlighted with tiny satin bows.

Matching lace motifs were repeated on the long full bishop sleeves and cuffs and edged the total-look Cathedral veil of ivory.

lusion. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations, baby breath and greenery, tied with white satin ribbon.

Miss Lois Forrester, a sister of the bride, who is attending Loyola University in Chicago, was the maid of honor.

She selected a formal length dress of pink peau de soie over taffeta designed with an Empire waist. Wine colored velvet encircled the waist and also fashioned the collar and cuffs of the long sleeves. Her bouquet was an arrangement of pink carnations interspersed with baby breath.

Dr. Thomas Ward of Tulsa, Okla., a brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. Seating the guests was Jim Forrester, the bride's brother.

A buffet supper was given immediately following the ceremony in Fellowship Hall of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ.

The former Miss Forrester graduated from St. Teresa Academy in East St. Louis in 1969. She is employed at Hanover Insurance Co. in St. Louis.

Mr. Caffee attended the University of Tulsa for two years prior to his enlistment in the Coast Guard.

The couple is making their home in Granite City at the present time.

Cougars Lose 57-54 To Bethel

Facing a front line of 64 to 6-10 cagers, Southern Illinois University-Southwestern continued along its dismal way as they were overcame by little but mighty Bethel College of McKenzie, Tenn., 57-54 Friday night at the Edwardsville High School gym.

Coach Jim Dudley's Cougars, injury-ridden much of the season, managed to stay ahead most of the game, but Bethel moved up 49-48 with three minutes left on a bucket by Bethel's 6-8 Joe Reeves.

Gene Bounds sank one for the Cougars to retain the lead briefly, but two free throws gave Bethel a margin which the Wildcats held onto.

The Cougars managed 18 field goals in a meager 34% effort, while Bethel hit 32 times for a poor 38% performance. SIU-SW sank 18 of 23 free throws while the winners hit on 11 of 17 from the charity stripe.

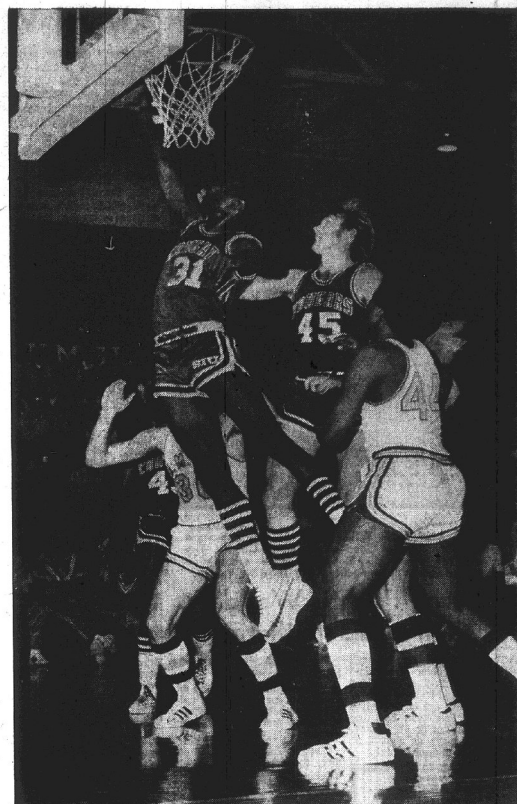

In the low scoring action, SIU-SW held a 26-18 half-time advantage.

Tony Johnson topped the Cougar scoring action with 15 points. Bounds followed with 14. Jerry Bloemer and Jerry Blandow had 7 each and Denny Thronburg and Frank Ramsey had 6 each.

The loss left the Cougars with a 3-18 record for the season, while Bethel now is 17-7.

In a preliminary game, the Cougar Jayvees dropped a 92-80 decision to Lincoln Trail Junior College of Robinson.

The Cougars will host the University of Missouri-Kansas City at 8 p.m. today at Edwardsville High.

TWO POINTS FOR SAM HOLMES—Southern Illinois University-Southwestern's Sam Holmes (31) pours in two points against the University of Missouri-St. Louis last week. The game was won by the Rivermen, 83-74, in St. Louis. Holmes' teammate, Jerry Bloemer (45) is ready to rebound. To the left is UM-SL's Glen "Doody" Rohn and at right the Rivermen's Charles McFerrren (44).

Cougar Wrestlers Warm Up for NCAA Action

Coach Larry Kirstoff's Southern Illinois University-Southwestern wrestling team, 8-1 for the season, faces two more weeks of competition preparing for the National Collegiate Athletic Association finals.

Kirstoff's mat men will host the always strong Northeast Missouri State Bulldog wrestlers Thursday night at the local campus. The following week, the Cougar wrestlers take to the road for a match against Eastern Illinois University, one of four teams which defeated SIU-SW last season.

The NCAA national tournament will be held the first week of March at Oswego, N.Y.

After a stunning upset loss to Central Missouri State two weeks ago, Kirstoff's team rebounded and swept a double dual meet by beating the University of Tennessee, Martin.

33-15, and then stopping previously once-beaten University of Tennessee, Chattanooga, 30-15.
Continuing their winning ways, the Cougars then scored crushing victories last week over Washington University of St. Louis, 42-6, winning every match except the 118-pound event which they forfeited; then downed MacMurray College, 31-9.
In the match against Northeast Missouri, the Cougars must contend with the Bulldogs' co-captains, seniors Matt Stallings and Dan Klein. Stallings recently won his 10th straight dual match.
The 142-pound Stallings posted a record-breaking 22 points in a single meet against Southwest Baptist College earlier this year. Klein, the other Northeast standout, has put together a 12-5 record.

Ripka's 50 Sets Record in 90-44 Go Over Trojans

"Terrible" Terry Ripka ripped apart the Madison Trojan defense Friday at Granite City High School as he scored 50 points setting an all time school cage record, as GCHS downed the Trojans 90-44.

A three point combination with 3:42 left gave the "Ripper" 48 points to break the previous record of 47 points held by Gary Simpson, set against Alton Jan. 13, 1968.

Ripka had tied Simpson's record, tagging 47 points against Wood River last Dec. 18. He hit the 50-point mark with 2:12 on the clock. He bucketed 20 field goals, also a school record.

Ripka's season total so far is 269 points, an average of 28.5 per game, putting him in range of Simpson's school record of 699 set during the 1968-69 season.

Total Scoring

The Warriors have at least four games left, three on the regular schedule and one or more in the Granite City Regional. Ripka will need a 32.5 point average per game to equal Simpson.

Ripka has 1,360 points so far in his cage career. Rich Williams holds the record with 1,684, followed by Simpson with 1,554.

Terry connected with 10 out of 12 tries from the free throw line, and took 12 rebounds off the board for the game high.

Ripka's scoring by quarters went 6-15-16-13.

The game started off as though it would be another repeat of the Jan. 4 contest when GCHS squeaked by Madison in overtime 87-78. With Madison leading most of the way it was all tied up at the end of the first quarter 16-16.

After the first quarter it was no contest as the Warriors outscored the Trojans in the remaining three quarters 27-3, 22-8 and 25-18.

Couple of Mistakes

"At the beginning of the second quarter we made a couple of mistakes," had a couple of turnovers and Granite City got a six point lead, Madison Coach Larry Graham said.

"This seemed to completely demoralize our team and they just layed down and quit. It was unfortunate that the team got demoralized so quickly."

When asked why Ed Chandler was not played in the second half, Graham replied "He didn't do much in the first half, and when you get that far behind, or ahead in the game, you put in your younger players to give them some game experience."

The Warriors tagged 33 of 56 field goal attempts for an average of 58.9%. The Trojans made 14 field goals. Granite City dominated the backboards with 47-27.

St. Mary's Wins Consolation Title

St. Mary's Grade School basketball team of Madison, won the consolation championship in the St. Adalbert Invitational Tournament held in St. Louis by defeating Holy Family of Cahokia 66-49 Sunday.

Warrior Scoring

Other Warriors scoring were Joe Wallace 9, Tom Vrenick 8, Bob Dyer 7, Tom Patterson 5, Kevin Dyer 4, Chuck Kraus, Mark Guan and Brett Champion 2 each and Mike Martinez 1.

It was the ninth straight victory over Madison by Granite City teams and gave the Warriors a 14-6 record so far this season. The Trojans are now 6-13.

"Rebounding made the difference in Friday's game," Warrior Coach Don Deiterding said. "Happily we rebounded well against Madison and that

School Board Minimum Age Still Will Be 21

School board candidates in filing opening Feb. 23 must be at least 21 years old. Robert D. Brodt, assistant legal advisor of the Office of Public Instruction, has advised Wilbur R. L. Trimpe, superintendent of the Madison County educational service region.

To the question, "May 18-year-old persons be candidates for election to a board of education for a school district?" Brodt said:

"It is the official position of this office at the present time that candidates for election must be 21 years or over in accordance with Section 10-10 of the School Code.

"We have requested an opinion from the attorney general as to whether or not — in light of the federal Constitutional Amendment granting 18-year-olds the right to vote and prior opinions of the attorney general concerning 18-year-olds serving on juries — the result may be the pre-emption of the specific provision of Section 10-10.

However, until such attorney general's opinion is forthcoming or we are provided with a specific court decision in regard to this matter, we are taking the position that the specific provisions of Section 10-10 do apply and that a person must be 21 to be a candidate for or to serve on a school board."

Prairie Chickens Among Victims of Progress

Copley News Service
Springfield — Once, in the not too long ago, hundreds of thousands of prairie chickens darkened the Illinois skies when the flocks were flushed, and made the spring dawns hum to the horizon with their distinctive "booming" during the mating season.

Today, only about 400 remain in the state, and they are surviving only because of determined efforts by so many groups that members and birds must be on nearly a one-to-one basis.

In 1970, a count showed 378 of the birds in the entire state. It was announced today that showed progress in the fight to save the distinctive small game birds, since only 280 were found the previous year.

In the 1850's, H. Clay Merritt supported his family in style as a professional market hunter and even acquired several blocks of choice property in Kewanee through his hunting prowess.

He wrote a book, "The Shadow of A Gun," and said that he had flushed flocks of prairie chickens half a mile long, and longer, and had seen in one field more of the birds than could be counted in all the cities of the Union in a month.

A decade later, as people began slashing through the Illinois brush and clearing land for survival, "progress" began to overtake the elements and even the market hunters like Merritt had never been able to do — decimate and destroy those unbelievably large flocks.

As late as 1912 there were still prairie chickens in at least 74 Illinois counties. In 1933, flocks were still estimated at between 30,000 and 40,000 and there was a hunting season for them.

That was the last hunting season for prairie chickens in Illinois. Conservationists say there will never be another.

Even if, with management and support, the flocks survive the day when they could sit wing to wing along the fences for miles will never return to Illinois. There simply isn't enough unbroken grassland left for them.

What the people began, a shift in farming practices after World War II completed, as bigger tractors, use of lime and fertilizers made soybeans and hybrid corn more attractive than red-top grass in the "gray prairie" area of southern Illinois.

The birds could survive when red-top grass was raised, since it was combined in mid-summer when most of the hens had hatched their young and soon

More Federal Funds Sought for Medicaid, Health Care Systems
In special meetings with Illinois congressional last week, hospital representatives from across the state emphasized a need for more federal revenues to share the costs of state medical programs and to provide more adequate support for the development of new health care delivery systems, such as health maintenance organizations (HMOs).

The delegation of 80 representatives from 40 Illinois hospitals was in the nation's capital to discuss with Congressmen the major hospital problems on the "home front."

Headed by the delegation was Anthony J. Perry of Decatur, president of the Illinois Hospital Association.

IHA, a nonprofit, voluntary organization of 300 hospitals across Illinois, sponsored the delegation's visit to Washington. The Association represents a $1.6 billion-a-year health service system that employs over 154,000 people, one of the largest segments of the Illinois economy.

"Illinois, like many other states, is facing a Medicaid crisis along with a planned reduction of services available to the poor."

"Improved functioning of the Medicaid program and better provision of health care for the indigent and medically indigent dictates a much larger federal sharing of the costs," Perry said. He is executive vice-president and administrator of the 42-bed Decatur Memorial Hospital.

Commenting on the current need for positive charges on the health delivery system, he said, "Unless Congress provides large amounts of risk capital and operating incentives for development of innovative health delivery patterns, it's doubtful that many will be established."

In the meetings with Congressmen, the delegation presented a "statement of concerns" reviewing major issues facing Illinois hospitals. It included six major areas: National health insurance, Medicaid reform, Wage and price control, Planning and rate review.

Bankruptcies Up in 1971; Nearly All Could Avoid It

The number of Americans turning to bankruptcy as a way out of their debts is on the rise again.

Over 200,000 bankruptcy petitions were filed in 1971 — up 3.6% from 1970.

Bankruptcies have risen steadily since World War II, setting new records each year until they reached an all-time high in 1967. They declined somewhat in '68 and '69 and now are creeping up again.

According to a new survey by the Family Economics Bureau, the number of bankruptcies has risen almost 600% since 1950, when only 34,000 were filed. Over 900,000 dollars in debts is now washed down the drain every year.

Some bankruptcies—like those of the huge Penn Central Railroad or a member of the wealthy DuPont family—make newspaper headlines. Although the vast majority involve small businesses and consumers who don't make headlines, the results of their bankruptcies are felt by every American.

Losses written off by bankruptcy are reflected in increased interest rates all borrowers are charged and in the price consumers pay for goods and services.

When the federal Bankruptcy Act was passed in 1898, consumer credit was virtually unknown.

The years following World War II saw consumer credit mushroom. And Mr. Consumer. Average American began filing bankruptcy in increasing numbers.

In 1950, there were 9,000 business and 25,000 consumer bankruptcies. By 1960, there were 12,000 business and 100,000 consumer bankruptcies.

Last year, businesses accounted for 19,078 bankruptcies and consumers for 122,145.

In 1950, 22 out of 100,000 people filed bankruptcy. For 1971, the figure was 96 per 100,000 population.

The Family Economics Bureau found several factors have contributed to the rise in consumer bankruptcies. For one thing, credit is easily available. Also, pressures are exerted on families to "buy now and pay later."

Some consumers themselves may be faulted for their itch to spend and their inability at times to distinguish between luxuries and necessities.

The "new morality" which tends to put a lower priority on financial responsibility, and harsh collection laws in some states also are contributing factors.

The reason for filing bankruptcy is different for each individual, but in all cases there are both "basic" and "triggering" causes.

The most common basic, or underlying cause, is poor money management. A desire to "keep up with the Joneses," impulsive buying and failure to provide for emergencies all lead to careless and reckless use of consumer credit.

Sudden fluctuations in earnings as a result of layoffs or elimination of overtime pay are other primary causes.

Basic reasons can include large hospital bills, medical expenses and casualty losses, such as caused by a fire or tornado, if inadequately covered by insurance.

The triggering cause, or the "straw that finally breaks the camel's back," sends the debtor to bankruptcy court, usually threatened by actual garnishment of wages.

Attachment and repossessions of such things as a car used to get to work and harassment by creditors also are triggering causes.

Studies have shown there are four types of debtors. The first is the debtor who is the victim of circumstance; the honest person struck by misfortune.

Second is the mismanager, who, while honest, simply lacks the ability to budget his income and gets deeply in debt.

These two comprise the majority of all debtors. The other two types are the "won't pay," who has no intention of paying his bills, and the "skip," who leaves town after running up huge bills.

The average consumer bankrupt is not lazy or dishonest. He works hard. He is 30 years old, married and has a larger-than-average family. He is a blue collar worker with a 10th grade education and few marketable skills.

He owes money on furniture, his car, appliances, tools and clothes. He is also behind on his rent or his mortgage payments.

And he owes money to a small loan company, his wife's doctor and the children's dentist. But the largest portion of his debt is owed to banks and loan companies. Medical and dental bills are another large item.

In one bankruptcy court, a study revealed that 78% of the debtors surveyed had at least one hospital or medical bill; for 3%, health expenses were more than half of their total debts.

Eighty-five percent of all consumer debtors file straight bankruptcies. This discharges all debts except taxes, alimony, support payments and liability for injury to another person or to property.

The remaining 15% file under Chapter 13, the Wage-Earner Plan, enacted in 1938. This enables a debtor to work out a plan, subject to approval of his creditors, to pay his debts under court supervision over an extended period of time, usually 36 months.

Chapter 13 is suitable when the debts are not excessive and the debtor has sufficient earning capacity to pay.

While under court supervision, a Chapter 13 debtor is protected from creditors, repossession and harassment.

Even though a person may be head over heels in debt, he'll find it costs money to file bankruptcy. In all cases, there are filing fees and attorney's costs.

In Chapter 13 cases, a percentage of the debts must be paid to a court-appointed trustee. In straight bankruptcies, the bankrupt loses whatever assets he has, except those exempt under state law.

There is still a stigma attached to going bankrupt, although doing so no longer means financial ruin.

When money is tight, it is doubtful that a bankrupt can get a home mortgage, but this is not true when money is relatively easy.

He would not have any trouble in obtaining new credit for any item that can be repossessed. Some retailers encourage a bankrupt to open new lines of credit, knowing that the law prevents him from filing bankruptcy again for six years.

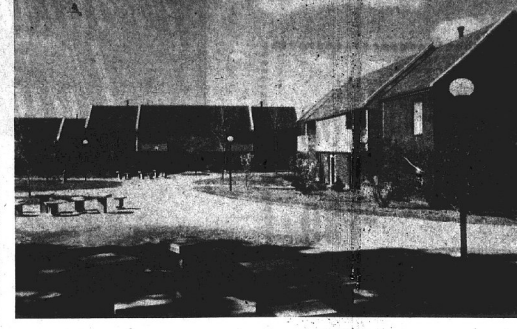

While the bankruptcy law is a federal one, it is subject to different interpretations in each state. Different personal exemptions of property from creditors' claims, and different collection laws create 50 sets of laws in 50 states.

Designed originally for businesses, the Bankruptcy Act is still geared to business bankruptcies, despite nearly 100 amendments over the years.

One weak spot in the whole picture is a lack of counseling and education in credit and money management. Until recently, school systems taught students little about managing their personal affairs.

Almost without exception, experts say, the person who is in debt is a better candidate for bankruptcy—can be saved if he gets help.

EXPANSION OF HOUSING at SIU-SW campus is to be considered by the university trustees here Friday. This photograph shows Unit One of the Tower Lake Housing at the university.

Robbery Suspect Apprehended by Madison Police

Within minutes after an armed robbery at a Madison Dry Cleaners firm, Madison police arrested a suspect three blocks from the scene.

Robert Curtis Rogers, 26, of Brooklyn, was apprehended in front of the Madison City Garage in the 1500 block of Third Street at 1:25 p.m. Thursday.

Less than five minutes after Mrs. Mary Gilmore, a clerk at the Madison Three-Hour Cleaners, 504 Madison Ave., called police and reported the cleaning establishment had been robbed.

She said the robber left on foot, running south on Madison Avenue and east into Fourth St. Moments later, police saw a man running in the alley behind the city garage. Police said they apprehended Rogers as he ran around to the front of the building.

Rogers was charged with armed robbery. Mrs. Gilmore said the robber entered the cleaners and said he wanted to pick up a friend's cleaning. He had no claim ticket, she said.

She reported she was unable to find the cleaning and then went into the back room and found a man in a suit. She said she felt something in her back and a man told her not to turn around. She said she turned around to see the robber was holding a chrome-plated revolver to her back.

While he held her at gunpoint, the man opened the cash drawer and took the bills from the drawer. Police said they found $34 in Rogers' coat pocket when he was arrested.

Goal of More Campus Residence Facilities

More on-campus housing at SIU-SW will be among the topics at Southern Illinois University trustees' meeting here Friday.

Three proposals for construction of a 248-unit, 1,000 bed cooperative living project are to be considered.

E. D. Hudgens, vice-president for business affairs, said the proposals, to be made by developers, will be for turnkey projects to be built to the same general specifications used in the existing Tower Lake complex.

The new units would be built on a 30-acre tract north of the present complex.

Hudgens said he anticipates the SIU Foundation would take title to the land on which the living units are to be built, and that the foundation would arrange interim financing for construction of the residence halls.

The university would take over the property from the foundation upon completion of construction and would operate, manage and maintain the housing.

SIU would authorize a revenue bond issue to finance the buildings.

Construction proposals are expected from Lloyd Adams, president of East St. Louis Illinois Homes, Inc.; Sam Letsky, head of Consumer Construction Co., in Chicago; and Elview Construction Co. of Des Moines, Ia.

Consumer Construction Co. was the general contractor for Tower Lake Apartments.

Construction time is estimated at no more than 18 months and the university hopes to begin work on the project some time this spring — with some units open for occupancy in the fall of 1973.

The first on-campus housing facilities at SIU-SW were occupied in January 1970. Unit I of Tower Lake Apartments consists of 200 two-bedroom and 48 three-bedroom apartments in 21 two-story buildings. The facilities are occupied to capacity and now serve 548 students.

The original project was financed by a bond issue, with income from rentals and tuition and fees pledged to retire the bonds.

Hudgens said a turn-key construction project is being recommended now because it would be less expensive for the university. Costs for various services can be reduced if the "turn-key" concept often used on federal projects is followed, he explained.

Architectural designs for the project will be based on the original Tower Lake construction, with minor modifications to facilitate cooperative living situations.

University officials determined early in 1970 that plans for a proposed traditional type dormitory project should be abandoned, because of changing contemporary housing trends on campuses.

In November, SIU trustees received a feasibility study on additional on-campus housing which showed that the shortage of housing resulted in denial of facilities to 370 applicants last fall.

According to a survey in the fall of 1970, there were 4,791 married and single students who were enrolled at SIU-SW and were living in non-university housing away from their parents. Of these, 50% expressed a desire to relocate in on-campus housing.

Trustees have adopted a policy authorizing campus housing here not to exceed 20% of full-time enrollment. Present capacity is about 4,250.

Projecting full-time enrollment by 1980 to be 18,000 students, this policy would allow on-campus housing for 3,600 students, or for 3,052 more than are now being served.

Environment Issue a Key Factor in Illinois Power Co. Decision to Build Nuclear Plant

Wendell J. Kelley, president of Illinois Power Co., announced Friday that the first generator in the power complex planned by the company near Clinton, Ill., will be an 800,000-kilowatt nuclear unit.

Operation is scheduled for early 1980.

Kelley said the final decision to build a nuclear plant was made at a meeting of the IP board of directors.

The principal factor in the board's decision, Kelley said, was that it is evident—through current and proposed federal and state pollution regulations which are constantly changing—that it is not practical to dedicate hundreds of millions of dollars to plants designed to burn Illinois coal which may not be permitted to operate when modified without expensive replacement.

In October 1970, the company announced plans for construction of a 5,000-acre lake which would provide a future power plant development.

The announcement, which won the praise of many environmentalists and others because of its early timing, was made before any plans were drawn as to the type or size of units which will be placed on the site. The announcement came about ten years ahead of planned actual generation on the site.

Much of the remaining lead time will be utilized for necessary licensing, permits, public hearings and equipment procurement. Quotations on various types of nuclear steam generators will be sought immediately.

Studies have shown that the development will require about 17,000 acres of land. Of that more than 7,500 acres have been purchased or optioned at the present time. It is estimated that the 25,000,000-gallon lake will support a total plant of about 4,000 kilowatts.

Environmental considerations played an important role in the decision to make the Clinton plant nuclear. E. A. Shultz, senior vice-president of Illinois Power, said, Shultz has general supervision of power production, engineering and construction for the company.

IP historically has generated its electric energy at plants, have enabled the lake to be created by impounding the waters of Salt Creek and the north fork of Salt Creek. The two basins of the lake will extend 14 miles along the course of Salt Creek, northeast from Clinton to near Farmer City, and seven miles along the north branch, in southwest direction from Clinton.

It will be among the larger man-made lakes in Illinois. The generating station will be placed between the two arms of the lake, near their confluence east of Clinton.

The dam, to be placed at a point below the confluence of Salt Creek and the north fork, will be at an elevation of 700 feet above sea level. The lake level will be at 680 feet, and the lake depth will range up to 40 feet at points.

Downstream, a guaranteed flow of at least five cubic feet of water per second will be provided at all times.

The minimum discharge into this area at present is 0.7 cubic feet per second, studies show. The low mark was set in October 1969.

The minimum down stream discharge thus will be guaranteed at more than seven times that amount, IP engineers said, and will be more than the minimum 30 days consecutive flow for the three years of record.

The Clinton power complex will be near the center of the 15,000-square-mile area served by Illinois Power Co. The company presently has major generating stations near Danville and Hennepin, Havana, Wood River and Baldwin.

Baldwin No. 1 unit at 605,000 kilowatts is presently in operation.

Kelley added it may be necessary to build another smaller fossil plant—at a location to be determined, and fuel to be determined—before 1978 demands ahead of the planned 1980 operation of the 800,000 kilowatt Clinton unit.

Lead time required for fossil plant construction is three to four years less than nuclear, he pointed out.

Kelley said monitoring equipment to begin environmental studies at the Clinton site will be installed in a few weeks.

An outside firm will be engaged to determine the best and use of the 130-mile shoreline of the lake and the use of the water surface itself for recreation purposes.

University City Chief To Address Shriners

Continuing with a series of community civic related programs, members of the Tri-City Shrine Club will hear an outstanding speaker at 8 p.m. Thursday in the area of law enforcement, A. V. Schermer, club president, said today.

Guest speaker at the Masonic Temple meeting will be Colonel James P. Damos, University City chief of police. All Shriners and Master Masons are invited to attend the special program, Schermer said.

Col. Damos is a 1944 graduate of the St. Louis University School of Commerce and Finance and the Federal Bureau of Investigation Academy. He currently is attending graduate school working toward a master's degree in police administration.

The Missouri police officer served as the first board chairman of the Major Case Squad of the Greater St. Louis area. He is a member of the Missouri Police Chiefs Association and the Ad Hoc Committee, Police Science Program at the University of Missouri at St. Louis. Col. Ordinance Would Give 'Ethics' Exemptions

An ordinance that would exempt city board and commission appointees from Ethics legislation requiring income disclosures was placed on first reading by the Granite City Council last week.

The bill was introduced by Ordinance Committee Chairman Roy Poulos for final passage, but after several aldermen questioned procedure under new Illinois Ethics legislation, the document was placed on first reading to give City Attorney Leon Scroggins time to send copies of the state law to members of the council.

Mayor Donald Parney said he had the ordinance drawn because he feared a flood of resignations from members of city agencies who serve without pay. This could include members of the library board, the city plan commission, and similar agencies. The mayor said he believed the exemption is legal since the appointees serve without pay.

Thura-Boyd Wedding At St. Gabriel Church

Miss Patricia Ann Boyd, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Boyd of 6386 Blair Ave., St. Louis, and Harry James Thura, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thura, 2516 Center St., were united in marriage at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 4, at St. Gabriel the Archangel Church in St. Louis.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Harry E. Stitz officiated at the evening ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a beautifully pearly and beaded French Chantilly lace gown designed with an Empire bodice, featuring a sweetheart collar and long fitted sleeves cuffed at the wrists with a wide band of satin edged in matching lace.

A wide satin band encircled the waistline above the A-line skirt of satin and delicate Chantilly lace that formed a deep border at the hemline.

She wore a camelot headpiece embellished with tiny seed pearls, creating an intricate design that secured a veil of bridal illusion.

Mrs. Robert Pearson, the bride's twin sister, was her maid of honor and Mrs. James Yonko, another sister, and Mrs. Charles A. Heister, were bridesmaids.

Lisa Pearson was flower girl and Daniel Joseph Pearson the ringbearer.

Charles Johnson served the groom as best man with Arthur Boyd Jr., a brother of the bride, and Kent Holsinger, as groomsmen. Edward Colligan and Gale Cuvart seated the guests.

A reception was being immediately following the ceremony at Norwood Hill Country Club, Normandy, Mo.

After a wedding trip the newly married couple moved to Emsworth, Penn. where they will make their home.

Instead of Nine Quad-Cityans, New County Board Can Have Only Seven, Voters Decide

Statistics tell the story of the partisan primary voting held Tuesday to help determine those on the ballot for the April 4 Metropolitan County Board election. The turnout was poor and the results traumatic from the standpoint of board continuity.

With the Illinois Constitution and state laws requiring elimination of the township-lunk 49-member Board of Supervisors, and the outgoing board having chosen the maximum possible future board size of 29, it was certain that many incumbents would have to retire or face defeat.

What, with six losing head-to-head clashes with other board members, four bowing to newcomers in the primary and at least four other incumbents certain to be squeezed out in April, no more than 20 holdovers can remain on the board.

And the number could easily shrink to the point where only about one-third of the old board members will still be representing their constituents as of May 1.

As expected, the board will be heavily Democratic oriented.

There is no ballot opposition for five Democratic (four of these are incumbents) and for one Republican.

Of four incumbent Democrats running against fellow board members, two face Republicans and two are competing with independents.

Of the 12 incumbents who face newcomers in April voting, 11 incumbents are Democrats and one is a Republican. The remaining seven board positions are being contested entirely by newcomers.

This substantial changeover does not mean that the new County Board will not be able to rise to the challenges which await it. But it does mean an infusion of new faces and thoughts and attitudes of unprecedented proportions.

The outcome of the Tuesday Democratic primary races may have whittled the number of potential Quad-City area board members from nine to seven.

Still in contention are William Webb-Walter Emde in District 19, Nelson Hagmann in 20, Carl Buehler-Jess Parks in 21, Herbert Milton in 22, Jay Maurer in 23, Arthur Moore in 24 and Louis Whitfield in 25. But Walter Sparks of Mitchell lost to Albert Doerr of South Roxana in District 16 and David Hunkla of Bend Road was defeated by Homer Boothman of State Park Place.

Southern Illinois University Trustees Right In Insisting on Making Their Own Decisions

Southern Illinois University trustees, who displayed courage and foresight at their January meeting in defending their right to continue SIU-Southwestern campus engineering instruction, will be tested again Friday morning when they transact monthly business and confer with James B. Holderman, executive director of the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

SIU Board Chairman Harold R. Fischer asked Holderman to meet with the trustees of the engineering program, which the Board of Higher Education is trying to discontinue.

What seems to be at stake is whether the BHE is a coordinating unit, as originally intended, or whether it is going to, in effect, eliminate the need for individual university boards by making virtually all decisions for them, from afar.

The SIU board is justified in insisting on its right to function. Just because the higher education board is eager to expand its own role does not endow the BHE with the competence to make sound decisions from its distant vantage point.

The SIU board on Friday also will consider termination of plans for an SIU-SW communications building; bids were rejected previously when they were more than 20% in excess of available funds. On this point, we think trustees and citizens should keep in mind that the state—at the behest of the BHE—has for several years blocked classroom construction here despite the obvious and continuing need for SIU-SW to catch up with this region's unmet needs.

It is simply not right for capital spending to be choked off by distant board coordinators who myopically conclude that the local campus deserves low priority. Yet, no instructional facilities are being built, and no such construction is planned for many years. Maybe the SIU board ought to talk to Mr. Holderman about that, too.

School, Road Officials Might Find Partial Remedy by Discussing Pavement Ice Problem

We struck a live nerve with the Feb. 10 editorial, "Why an 'ice on hills' problem in flat Granite City?" A number of women bus drivers, in defense of the present bus contractor, called to cite hazards which existed on the morning of Jan. 7, when no bus service was provided in School District Nine. They also noted a bus mishap associated with snow and ice on Feb. 9.

Some of the bus drivers said Granite City streets are more slippery than would be the case if the street department or some other unit responded earlier, and with greater manpower and equipment, to the task of clearing or de-icing driving areas.

Police and street departments also have been deluged in recent days with reports of intersections "so slick that it is impossible to stop."

Driving unquestionably is nerve-racking when tires and brakes are unable to do their job. The task, it is understandable, that bus drivers responsible for the safety of dozens of school children—are concerned when they are asked to proceed with routes over dangerous areas, regardless of whether nature or street crews are blamed.

It could be that no full solution is possible, particularly in situations where the temperature, precipitation, wind and timing contrive to freeze streets and highways before remedial steps can be taken.

Some improvements might be possible if school, city, township, county and state officials got together and reviewed present and potential road safety programs and procedures. The application of ideas and/or funds sometimes can achieve surprising results, even with as tough a problem as snow-covered roads.

Manufacturing Technology Is Target of Reds

Calculating the "balance of terror" between East and West in this nuclear age, we are accustomed to measuring the preponderance of power in terms of missiles and megatons.

It is behind the ramparts, however, where the real balance of power is determined—in the technology and industrial capacity that creates modern armies and weapons and stands behind the threat of their use.

We see both reaching outward to redress the balance. The Soviet Union trails the United States of America in almost every field of industrial production—especially in the so-called "high technology" fields, such as computers and mass-produced motor vehicles.

Thus, Soviet officials are prowling the industrial capitals of Western Europe in search of deals to obtain the manufacturing technology their own heavy-fuel system has failed to develop.

Their lures are trade agreements opening up new markets for European goods—and the chance for European firms to take part in developing the Soviet Union's vast natural resources.

The Chinese Communists are more desperate than the Russians. When the Communists took power in Mainland China in 1949, they planned their hopes for industrialization on the help they would receive from the more advanced Soviet Union.

Soviet tools and technicians poured into China—only to be withdrawn abruptly with the ideological break between Mao Tse-tung and the Kremlin.

While achieving a nuclear capability, the country failed to make its "Great Leap Forward" to become an industrial power.

Meanwhile the Communist experiments with cooperative and communal farms also failed to develop the agricultural surplus which would have given the reds the means to export.

—the only possibility for earning foreign credits to buy tools and technology for heavy industry and mass production.

Where can China turn? Western European businessmen are loathe to jeopardize their budding relationship with the Russians if they tried to play both sides of the Communist street.

Peking sees that the only route for building bridges to the West is to turn toward Japan and the United States.

This may be the rationale behind Peking's sudden decision to try to patch up old enemies with Japan and to roll out the red carpet for President Nixon in Peking.

For all the dread which the world feels toward the arsenals of missiles that make up a "balance of terror," there is comfort in the security that it buys. It is no comfort, however, in knowing that nations of the free world are being lured into handling their enemies' technology and manufacturing skills which can only make it harder to keep the real balance of power between East and West in balance.

Tax Reform High on Priority List

An ambitious list of 1972 goals has been developed by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, which more than ever before will attempt to achieve those goals through local-level rather than state-level efforts. State Chamber President Lester W. Bram Jr. told Tri-Cities Area Chamber members here this month.

Tax reform is being given major emphasis. Top priority objectives for 1972 follow:

Crime: Attack high costs of crime, through effective crime prevention and control legislation.

Equal Employment: Provide a "compliance checklist," guidelines to help review internal procedures for lawful compliance with the P. Affirmation of rules, regulations, guidelines, standards and inspections by a growing number of equal employment opportunity agencies.

Health Costs: Advance solution to spiraling costs of health care through analysis of health care legislative proposals and cooperative programs with agencies and organizations.

Labor: Help the employer understand his responsibilities under the far-reaching Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970.

Political Action: Launch an election-year program in active politics and legislation at the grassroots level. Encourage and help able and qualified citizens to run for public office.

Pollution: Scrutinize environmental regulations and legislation, and voice viewpoint on behalf of economically feasible policies.

Schools: Spearhead drive to reorganize Illinois into more efficient school districts, with consolidation to help maximize return for each tax dollar invested in education.

Tax Reform: Advocate property tax reform by legislative action removing the personal property tax from every tax-payer's business and non-business—in Illinois. Recommend broad-based non-discriminatory replacement sources of revenue.

Urban Growth: Originate pilot program to help local communities assess development problems and accommodate growth.

Objectives in addition to the nine chief goals are: Assessments: Devise ways for increased cooperation with local officials to improve assessment practices. Business Expansion: Maintain and create an economic climate conducive to business expansion. Better Finance: Find new and better ways to finance higher education in Illinois. Compensation Laws: Improve workers' compensation and unemployment compensation laws to provide more efficient administration and control of costs.

the offender in a self-supporting role and reduce the burden on the state. Act to elevate levels of probation services by development of training and education courses in the field.

Real Estate: Initiate legislation for equitable assessment of real estate, including an improved definition of the tax base.

Revenue Bonds: Provide administrative guidelines to help communities implement the 1971 Industrial Project Revenue Bond Act.

Revenue Sharing: Work for legislation to maximize the benefit to Illinois of any federal revenue-sharing proposal.

Sales Tax: Explore feasibility of changes in the sales tax to broaden its base.

Self-Support: Develop welfare administrative procedures to insure that a maximum number of recipients return to self-support, that family support be secured from more absent fathers, and that only those entitled to welfare receive assistance.

Spending Alert: Develop summaries of annual expenditures by state departments to alert taxpayers to major spending trends.

State Budget: Recommend spending priorities and seek practical reductions or deferrals in spending through a review of annual state budget.

Strikes: Initiate law prohibiting public employee strikes, protecting the public interest and providing sound, equitable collective bargaining procedures.

Training: Cooperate in work release, educational and vocational training programs designed to return ex-inmates to self-supporting and productive roles in society.

Vocational Education: Advance expanded career education program in schools via statewide campaign.

Water Quality: Launch major study of economic impact of compliance with efficient and water quality standards.

Welfare Costs: Help reduce number of welfare cases and stabilize costs.

The FORM

TRANSIT DISTRICT TAX PROPOSAL IS APPALLING

To the Editor: The proposal by a St. Louis paper to solve the problems of the Bi-State Transit System by levying a "transit district" sales tax on the St. Louis metropolitan area, including the Quad-City points out the importance of metro east to St. Louis.

The Illinois dollar has long been sought by the St. Louis and Missouri business interests, many of whom are now actively engaged in the "Missouri all or none at all" conspiracy.

Illinoisans would do well to consider the many dollars of their money that are spent in Missouri on recreation, entertainment, retail sales, etc., etc., with little or no return to Illinois, either reciprocally or in revenue or income.

It is true that many Illinoisans are employed in Missouri, but it is also true that much of this income is spent in Missouri, and the suggestion that Illinoisans pay increased fares or a sales tax so that Bi-State can use our money is a very critical and demanding person.

On a radio station, you hear people expressing their dislikes and negative comments on the hospital. . . hospital costs are high. Food is high, everything is high, and the state line is — to say the least — appalling.

On the few trips to the race tracks that we make, it has always been annoying to be asked to pay admission to lose our money.

Incidentally, the income derived by Missourians spending at Illinois race tracks can only be considered as crumbs that Missourians refuse to allow to darken their "hollowed" ground.

As long as we can consider the Illinois side of the river as the "ugly duckling," the potential of the great St. Louis metropolitan area, including Illinois, will not be fully realized.

The airport location would be a good place to begin this "ecumenical" movement.

IMPRESSIVE HOSPITAL WING WELL-EQUIPPED

To the Editor: I had the pleasure of touring the new doctors' wing of St. Elizabeth Hospital. It is a very striking, up-to-date and impressive addition with equipment second to none.

I had occasion to be in St. Elizabeth's last year for the first time in my life in any hospital for close to 48 years. It was above expectations.

The service was great; the nurses, doctors and everyone left nothing to be desired. A friend of mine went in recently for minor surgery. It was the first time he went into a hospital in 50 years and he was very impressed with the new wing and St. Elizabeth's general operations. This man is a very critical and demanding person.

PROGRESS AID READING ABILITY OF CHILDREN

To the Editor: We, as a family with children much affected by and benefiting from programs such as the Electric Company, wish to say thank you for helping to put this wonderful program back on the air.

GREAT TREATMENT IN INTENSIVE CARE UNIT

To the Editor: I have been a resident of Granite City for about 46 years and have been a patient in St. Elizabeth Hospital for more times than I care to count. I have always been treated with the very best of care.

I feel that I must now write on the intensive care division. It should have been the first unit to be moved into the new part of the hospital.

I recently spent four days, which will be an experience that I will never forget. Sister, nurses and nurses aides deserve all the praise they can get.

The quarters were so cramped and hard for them to carry out

THEIR DUTIES. THEY NEVER COMPLAINED AND WERE ALWAYS AT YOUR SIDE EVEN IF YOU MOVED A MUSCLE.

I spent four days under their care and wanted for nothing. Even in their cramped quarters, their concern was for the welfare of their patients.

As I began to progress and noticed their cramped area, it was always at my side. I carried out their duties of caring for the very sick. If ever unit needed more room it is the ICU. I am sure they will never neglect their patients even in the larger areas.

I am still confined to my home but would have loved to be able to take the tour of the hospital.

I am sure that if I ever have to enter the hospital again, I will have the very best of care no matter what the area.

Thanks for letting me get this off my chest, and I wish the best of going to any other hospital. Congratulations to the ICU.

$172,325 Grant Made for Water Management Study

A federal grant of $172,325 has been awarded to the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission (SIMAPC) for a water quality management study in this region.

The Federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has given its approval for the grant representing 50% of the total estimated project cost of $344,650. The grant was awarded under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act.

State Senator, Gov. Richard Ogilvie named SIMAPC to conduct the two-year study of water quality. The awarding of the federal grant was the final official action required for the study.

Such a regional water study is a requirement of the federal government for future sewer grant approvals. With the study now underway, regional communities retain their eligibility for federal sewer grants.

This eligibility has been in effect since 33 applications seeking more than $32 million in FEPA grants were filed from this region in 1971.

Of the 450 applications filed in the state and assigned priorities by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, seven from the region are rated in the top 20 priorities. These seven are Granite City, Mascoutah, Caseyville Township, O'Fallon, Belleville, Bethalto and Hecker. The study will be a comprehensive analysis of all water in St. Clair, Madison and Monroe Counties. The water quality management study will include all water resources, such as rivers, streams, lakes, reservoirs, ponds and public water supplies.

Such studies will determine what, if anything, is polluting the water, such as strip mines, agriculture, urban sewage or water runoff. The studies will determine how and where water is being polluted and what can be done to alleviate the condition. A program then will be established to eliminate the water pollution over a period of years, determined by the severity and the type of pollution and by the economic feasibility.

The fact that the study is evident when realizing there are 79 water systems and 148 public and private sewage systems in the three-county area.

When completed, the study will become a part of the total by the Illinois Quality Plan and Program.

Miss Linda Polette and Mrs. Vivian Davis, met last week in the home of Mrs. August DePew, 220 East 25th St., and discussed entries for Neighborhood Three's second annual art show in April.

The troop welcomed two new members, Tammy Arnold and Kathy Van Zant, and made plans for a Valentine's party next week. Committees were formed for food, entertainment and decorations. Miss Polette suggested a "bring a friend" theme.

The scouts drew sketches on canvas and will paint them in oil. They also have made models out of clay for the art show.

Next week, materials will be distributed for advance cookie sales beginning Feb. 18; there are only 10 boxes per case instead of 12. The cookie chairman are Mrs. Marge McGuire and Mrs. Carmen Grider.

Scouts attending were those named and Laura Arpaia, Tammy DePew, Julie Forys, Susan Welty and Kathy Polette.

The scouts made valentines for a girl who has an eye infection. The troop will meet at the DAY Hall Saturday for an all-day session, a craft workshop and the annual Valentine party. Mrs. Kidman asked the scouts to bring sack lunches; drinks and dessert will be provided.

The troop members will make individual entries for Neighborhood Three's second annual art show April 29 at St. John's United Church of Christ.

National Attention on GC Nestle Plant Safety Record

G. J. Gogniat, president of The Nestle Company, Inc., U.S.A., has been among those visiting here to congratulate 275 Granite City employees and their guests for not only making the world's best Nestle, but also for being the safest Nestle plant.

A gathering held at the SIU-SW campus, was twofold — to honor the establishment of a new Nestle safety record, and the second consecutive year the National Safety Council contest year.

On Dec. 1, 1971, Granite City Nestle employees surpassed the previous Nestle safety record of 853 disabling-injury-free days established in 1963 by Crosbe & Blackwell, a Nestle subsidiary.

"The achievement is especially outstanding considering the fact that last-time injury frequency rates have been steadily increasing in the prepared foods industry in recent years," President Gogniat has noted.

Although the safety party marked the 83rd day without a lost time injury, and the second consecutive complete calendar year, the Granite City plant by this week had extended the new Nestle safety record to 921 days.

Safety-conscious employees now have their sights set on another perfect year. The new goal projected by the employees' safety committee is 1,249.

Entertainment for the celebration was provided by a local theatrical group, the East Bank Players. Selected arrangements were made from the stage hit, "Anything Goes," were featured.

A premiere song entitled "Hello Nestle," transposed from the musical "Hello Dolly," set the mood for the evening. Mrs. Ann Scott, Henry Lamb and Mrs. William Hoelscher guided the East Bank Players in their performance.

Gogniat in his address to the audience praised "the outstanding team work and spirit exhibited by the Nestle employees" and cited these attributes as being essential in order to make the best products under the safest conditions.

Also expressing their appreciation were a native son, Louis, Dr. J. C. Studer, executive vice-president, and Dr. A. R. Mishkin, vice-president, manufacturing.

A telegram from President Richard M. Nixon commended Nestle employees on their safety achievement.

R. A. Higgins, Granite City acting plant manager, accepted — in behalf of Nestle employees — the Silver Class Award for excellence in safety performance.

Darryl Hamilton of the Insurance Company of North America presented the award. Granite City employees welcomed in addition to Gogniat, Dr. Studer and Dr. Mishkin the following guests:

W. J. Boone, manager, manufacturing; H. L. Colvin, assistant to the executive vice-president; T. J. Cummings, assistant labor relations manager; Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Schuessler (Schuessler is the former Granite City plant manager); and G. A. Quirk.

Also in attendance were Wilbert Hemken and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McCall, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers; William Hoelscher, Tri-Cities Manufacturing Association manager; and Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Hamilton.

Members of the present and past Nestle safety committee in attendance included Virgil Kirk, Gary Reimund, John Lindquist, Elmer White, Bill Bartie and John Goeke. Jesse Welty, Fred Wiehe, David Crockett, Harry Walker, and Tom Lyner, Granite City safety chairman is Albert Binder.

Sister Cornelia On Leave, Not 'Transferred'

Reports that Sister Mary Cornelia Hawkins, former Pontiac Beach police juvenile officer and dispatcher, has been transferred from the area are refuted in an unsigned note, allegedly from the nun, which was received by the Press-Record last week. The envelope was postmarked Bloomington, Ind.

The sister's name was typed on the bottom of the letter. The document was not signed. The letter said:

"I wish to advise you that since my release from St. Elizabeth Hospital I definitely have not been transferred as some have seen fit to claim, nor have I left town under pressure. I most certainly am not running away."

"My leave resulted from the advice of my doctors who recommended I recuperate for several weeks where the air is free of pollution in view of my infected lung. Any alternative, they said, would result in surgery to remove that lung."

"When I return to Granite City — and indeed I do intend to return — I shall be able to continue my work with the youth of the area. I also hope to clear up all the lies and false publicity — since there has been plenty of false information."

In an interview with a Press-Record staff writer in the hospital Jan. 28, Sister Cornelia said she had been advised by her doctors to leave the Granite City area for several weeks, but said she intended to return here eventually.

Pupils to Hear Talks on Occupational Careers

An extensive career information program for intermediate grade students has been planned for Namekiki School by Don Kopp, principal, and a member of its staff, Mrs. Cheryl Evans. The program consisting of lectures, interviews, slides, movies and other visual aids is designed to assist the fourth, fifth and sixth grade students to gain a greater knowledge and insight into the world of work.

Some of the more interesting occupations that will be discussed by qualified speakers in the course of the program will include:

Dentistry — Feb. 15, Dr. Albert Triant; Photography — Feb. 18, Dr. Stanley Maer; III, State Patrol — March 3, William A. Simpson, Veterinary Medicine — March 14, Dr. D. D. Polley; Pharmacy — Mar. 16, Roy Winters.

Each program is designed to last approximately one hour and will be geared to the ability and interest level of the children.

It is imperative that student attitudes be changed, that they attain greater knowledge, understanding, and appreciation of various occupations, and that they come to the realization that work has actual value," Kopp said.

The effort toward greater career information in the elementary schools currently is being emphasized districtwide in the Granite City School system through an elementary occupational information program developed in 1970 and published as a handbook for teachers for the present school year.

The program has received wide recognition throughout the state and has served as a model for other school districts as well.

In addition the school district has

"ALL-WEATHER" BATTERY

WELLS TRI-CITY 2248 MADISON AVE. TIRE COMPANY 877-1572

This man has devoted an entire lifetime to preparing great food in impeccable surroundings. He could drop into our store at any moment.

That's our Colonel. He's over 80 now. And it seems the older he gets, the fussier he gets about chicken, gravy, potatoes and all the other things he's devoted a lifetime to 'fixin' and fixin' right. He won't budge his name on anything that isn't perfect. So he stops in sometimes. Unexpectedly. To check things for himself. And he's the strictest inspector of them all. That's why your Kentucky Fried Chicken store goes to a lot of extra trouble making sure the food and service are absolutely perfect. □ All our chickens start out in government-inspected hatcheries, ranches, and processing plants. They're sized, graded, and selected especially for Kentucky Fried Chicken. And the Colonel approves only the finest, tenderest young broilers for your eating pleasure. □ After that, our excellent birds are chilled and shipped under government seal to a commissary, where they're inspected again by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and stamped 100% government inspected. □ But the inspections are just beginning. Refrigerated trucks deliver the broilers to your local Kentucky Fried Chicken store. Each piece is individually dipped in egg and milk, then rolled in the special flour that contains the Colonel's own secret recipe of 11 herbs and spices. □ We double-check each piece before it goes into the pressure cooker, and we check it again before placing it in the Box, Bucket or Barrel you buy. □ And all the while we're busy checking our broilers, our people spend as much time dismantling and sanitizing their equipment as they do cooking chicken. □ As you can see, when we sell you Kentucky Fried Chicken, we've had it checked and inspected about as much as we can. But there's more. Spot checks are made by state and local agencies for cleanliness to the nth degree. □ True, it's a lot of extra work, but the Colonel insists on it, and every Kentucky Fried Chicken store in the country is proud to do it. Because we want you to get the best. And come back soon. Thanks.
